TOO MUCH OIL
SAYS EXPERTOutput Exceeds Demand;

to Avert Slump

Ralph Arnold, the petroleum geologist, who has been the storm center of the oil world since his recent predictions of the rapid exhaustion of the Mexican oil fields and low estimates of the potential petroleum resources of the United States, yesterday put forth another prophecy that is of dire significance to the California oil producer.

According to the famous oil authority, the petroleum industry in this State is due for one of the most serious slumps it has ever known unless the present overproduction in the new Southern California fields is drastically and immediately curbed. The present active production in California exceeds consumption by 45,000 barrels a day. To this surplus another 50,000 to 100,000 barrels daily production will be added within the next sixty days, according to Mr. Arnold, who bases his prediction on a survey of the development work now under way at Huntington Beach, Signal Hill and Santa Fe Springs.

If production continues at this rate unchecked, storage facilities will be soon exhausted and an enormous surplus will be thrown on the market sending prices crashing downward, the oil expert pointed out. The recent cut of 25 cents a barrel in crude made by the Standard of California will be only the forerunner of a long series of additional reductions unless something is done to throttle the increasing output of the new fields in this territory.

Mr. Arnold cited as an example of what may again happen, that disastrous episode in California oil history several years ago when the Lakeview gusher came in with a production of 50,000 barrels, which so flooded the market that the price of crude oil broke from 63 to 25 cents. The additional production expected from the beach and Santa Fe Springs in the next few months may again serve as the "last straw" and send crude prices to record low levels, he said.

The cause of the present situation in the small land-owner and small company operating in the "town-let" fields at the beach and Santa Fe Springs, according to Mr. Arnold, are pushing development work at times when the larger concerns, realizing the true status of market conditions, are doing everything in their power to curtail production. The three fields in this territory are the only ones in the State to show increased production, all the others showing serious decreases due to shutting in operations.

Because of the crowded conditions in these new fields, brought on by the innumerable small leases held, one well drilled often causes three other off-set wells to be drilled alongside of it. Also, on account of the sand formation in these particular fields, it is almost impossible to cap in any production once the well is in, without ruining the well.

There is only one remedy for the situation, as Mr. Arnold sees it, and that is a campaign of education and co-operation among these smaller operators, which will prevent all their rush production from coming on the market while it is in its present weakened state. If this element can be persuaded to sacrifice quick immediate returns in the interests of much greater profits later, the coming crash in the market can be headed off.

According to the geologist, government agencies have been interested in California's oil problem, and a concerted effort will probably be made shortly to advance a scientific quick immediate return to hold off bringing in new wells until the present crisis has been passed.

HEN FRUIT THIEVES' LOOT

Burglars Steal Enough Eggs to Set Them up in Produce Business

Breaking their way through a heavy rear gate and then through three pad-locked doors, thieves early Tuesday morning entered the Eggs Products Corporation establishment at 1904-06 East Seventh street and stole several hundred dollars' worth of dairy products.

The loot, consisting of crates of eggs, in the greater part, was loaded on an automobile truck which the burglars found in a rear garage.
With the truck carrying sufficient produce to afford one day's good peddling in the residential sections of the city, the thieves then broke open the garage door and drove away. Police are searching for the truck which bears the company's name.

VOTE ON LIBRARY IS URGED

Luther A. Ingersoll in Favor of Referendum of City to Choose Site

A referendum vote to determine whether the public wants the proposed central library building located on Normal Hill or in Pershing Square was urged before members of the City Club yesterday by Luther A. Ingersoll, curator of the historical collection bearing his name.

Mr. Ingersoll cited objections to the Normal Hill site, which he said was selected by the library directors at a "chamber meeting." Normal Hill, he said, is not accessible to the public, he declared, both because of its distance from street cars and its steep approach. Expensive grading work would be necessary and several hundred thousand dollars would have to be spent for acquiring a proper frontage.

Moreover, Mr. Ingersoll added, the Normal Hill surroundings are unsuited. The library would be surrounded by the new Elmer Hotel, the tall building, Institute Building with its clamorous chimneys, and the city hall, which is in "tune" and "garage."

"Can the library board give any logical reason or excuse for perpetrating so disgraceful and criminal an outrage upon a confiding public the speaker demanded that will sit the hundreds of thousands of tourists from all over the world think when they visit so ruinously and disgracefully the city of Los Angeles?"

Then Mr. Ingersoll pleaded for the Pershing Square site which, he said, would cost less expense, give a central and beautiful location and still leave a comely section of park. He suggested that Normal Hill be made the nucleus of a central park to extend "along the backbone of Bunker Hill and over historic Fort Moore Place to the Plaza."

Police Arrest Man as Robber of Aged Grocer

Asserted to have attacked Henry Barthold, aged grocer, in his store at 207 South San Pedro street, last yesterday, and to have robbed him of $114.12-year-old James Dolar was arrested after a chase by Officers Sheffield and Hill, and placed in the City Jail on a charge of suspicion of robbery.

Officers Sheffield and Hill were going to their beats in an automobile when Barthold rushed from his place of business crying that he had been robbed. Securing a description of the suspect, the officers gave chase and arrested Dol-ar at Third and Wall streets.

Barthold asserted that Dolar entered his store and, leaping upon him from behind, held the elderly man's arms while he took $114 from his pockets. The man arrested was found to have that amount in his possession. According to the officers, Dolar was recently tried in the Superior Court on a robbery charge, but was released.

Young Sailor Sent to Jail for Forgery

T. A. Guglielmo, 19 years of age, a young Italian boy who has just completed a four years' term of enlistment on the U.S.S. Charleston, having had to undergo a surgical operation, it is said, to make him eligible for enlistment, pleaded guilty in U. S. District Judge Tripet's court yesterday to forging the name of Samuel Ritter to a postoffice money-order calling for the payment of $50 to San Diego. He was given three months in the Los Angeles County Jail.

The boy pleaded for leniency, saying that a letter to the penitentiary would disgrace him among his pals in the Navy. He said his career was in the Navy and he had recently re-enlisted for service. He tried to get into the Navy during the World War, but was rejected on account of his age.

JEWELRY IS STOLEN

Burglars Break Into Home of Hollywood Family

Burglars who broke into the residence of Mrs. J. B. Wilcox at 8282 Harold Way, Hollywood, yesterday, by forcing a rear window, obtained jewelry and silverware valued at more than $3000.
Members of the family were absent at the time. After gaining entrance the thieves were reported to have ransacked every room in the house. The loot included about $1000 worth of jewelry and clothing belonging to Mrs. Nina Merriam, a guest of Mrs. Wilcox.

ASKS HALT IN FREEING OF FELONS

Candidate Scott Places Blame for Crime Wave on Administration

Accusing the present State administration for a great part of the responsibility for Southern California's growing crime problem, Deputy Public Defender Robert H. Scott, a candidate for justice of the peace, told members of the Kiwanis Club at Hotel Clark yesterday noon that this section of the State has been denied a single representative on the Board of Prison Directors.

As a result of this failure to recognize Southern California, he pointed out, men who have no interest in the region south of the Tehachapi, have the power to release felons whose crimes were committed here.

"Our State administration is responsible in no small degree for this condition," Mr. Scott declared.
"Out of the prisoners received at San Quentin prison last year, more than 55 per cent were sent there from south of the Tehachapi.
How long these men shall stay in prison and when they shall be paroled is determined by a State Board of Prison Directors composed of five men, none of them from Southern California."

"Would we ask San Francisco or Sacramento to select our District Attorney or our Superior Judges for us? Certainly not. Yet we permit San Francisco and Sacramento to select five men for our prison board who have more power than either the District Attorney or the judge in determining what is to be done with men who are sentenced for crimes committed in Southern California.
This condition should be corrected."

Special Prize is Offered in Queen Contest

With the coronation ball, which will terminate the queen contest, little more than a week away, activities in behalf of the convention fund to entertain the 20,000 Spanish War veterans expected to attend the grand anniversary next month, are being speeded up. It was stated yesterday.

Jessie Martin, City Hall candidate, is still leading in the race, with Hyacinth Brown, Union Pacific, second; Grace Mulchahey, Southern Pacific, third; Eloise Johnson, county candidate; Helene Holte, film favorite, and Lucile Newton, druggists' protégée, close behind the three leaders.

To stimulate competition for this week a special cash prize of $50 has been offered for the candidate turning in the most votes by next Monday noon. The second highest number will receive an expensive pair of opera glasses, and the third a box party at Dalton's Broadway Theater.

Tomorrow night, 2000 employees of the Union Pacific are staging a ball in the Goldberg-Bosley Hall in honor of Miss Brown. On the same night film interests are staging a cinema ball at the Bon Ton Ballroom, Ocean Park, to aid Helene Holte's candidacy. On Monday night city employees are staging a dance festival at Cinderella roof for Jessie Martin.

Railroad Man Electrocuted at Fullerton

Frank Davis, 28 years of age, was electrocuted yesterday afternoon while employed with a construction gang by the Union Pacific in building a bridge over a small ravine near Fullerton. Officials of the road who investigated were not able to determine how the Spanish worker came in contact with the body of Davis, who was standing on the top of the bridge at the time of the accident.

As far as is known the dead man left no relatives in this part of the country. His home was in Spanish Fork, Utah, and news of his death was sent there by his employers.
The inquest will be held today at Fullerton.

LET CONTRACT FOR LIBRARY
Architects for Structure Are Selected Building Itself Will Cost About $1,500,000
Branches Over City Also Planned by Board

Bertram M. Goodhue, noted New York architect, and Carleton M. Winslow of Los Angeles again have been selected as architects for the new $2,000,000 Los Angeles Public Library Building, which is to replace the old Normal School building at Fifth and Grand avenues, says an announcement yesterday by Librarian Perry, following official action taken by the board of library directors Tuesday.

The terms of the new contract are virtually the same as those of the first one entered into between the library board and Messrs. Goodhue & Winslow, with the exception that the defect that rendered the first contract invalid, according to a ruling of the City Attorney, has been remedied.

The bids received from local and eastern architects were practically the same as those received last December, said Mr. Perry. Mr. Goodhue's was the highest, his bid being for 7.5 per cent of the total contract price. Under this contract he will receive a fee of about $12,000.

Other bidders for the contract included the Allied Architects' Association, a body composed of about thirty of the leading architects of the city, Parkinson, Austin & Martin, Dodd & Richards and Lyman Farwell.

Of the $2,000,000 provided through a bond issue, voted last year for the erection of the new library, $1,500,000 will be devoted to the erection of the main building. About $500,000 will be spent for furnishings and equipment, and the remainder will be used for the construction of new branch library buildings, some of which are already in course of erection.

Last December Mr. Goodhue and his associate, Mr. Winslow, were unanimously chosen by the library board to design the building, and a contract was prepared and signed. Subsequently the contract was declared void by the City Attorney, owing to the fact that the type of bonds put up by Mr. Goodhue did not conform with the city ordinance.

Mr. Goodhue was selected as architect, it was said yesterday, because of his reputation as a designer of buildings of Spanish architecture, which will be the style followed in the new library building. The best-known examples of his work in this Southwest include the San Diego exposition group, in the designing of which he was associated with Mr. Winslow, the Dr. Norman Bridge Laboratory Building, at the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, and the buildings for the Naval Air Station and the Marine Base at San Diego.

Among the noteworthy structures in the East designed by Mr. Goodhue, are the Sterling Memorial Library at Yale, the Nebraska State Capitol, and St. Thomas's Church, New York.

Although his offices are maintained in New York, Mr. Goodhue has a residence at Montecito, near Santa Barbara, where he resides for a portion of each year. Mr. Winslow, who has designed many of the fine residences and school buildings of Southern California, is also known as an authority on Spanish architecture.

Raising of the old Normal school building and preparation of the site for the new library, will be started as soon as title to the Normal Hill property is officially acquired by the library, said Mr. Perry. It is expected that the building will be vacated and the property delivered to the library early this fall. Messrs. Goodhue and Winslow will proceed with the plans for the structure so that work on the building can proceed without delay.

Accuse Man of Raising Paper Bank Currency
Raiph C. Palmer, charged by Special Agent Hazen of the United States Treasury Department, with altering a $10 bill to a $50, then attempting to pass it on a South Broadway concern, was held in $2500 bond by U. S. Commissioner Long yesterday for the action of the Federal grand jury.

When trying to make his getaway, Palmer is said to have carried four suitcases filled with the altered bills that fell into the hands of the officers.

Palmer was a guest at the Alexandria, where he had an assortment of gold sticks, and when captured had in his possession $200 in cash, and a railway ticket to Boston, the officers say.

LIBEL SUIT FOLLOWS RECENT BEACH SUIT
MARY JANE BELL ASKS $35,000 DAMAGES FROM MIKE KELLY

The sequel of a recent suit tried in Judge Valentine's court is an action for libel and slander filed yesterday by Mary Jane Bell against Mike Kelly in which she asks a total of $35,000 damages.

The plaintiff resides at Santa Monica and declares that the defendant, inspired by malice, caused to be printed over his signature in the Santa Monica newspaper, articles intended to convey the impression that she had committed perjury in the suit in which she was a party.

Mr. Kelly is also charged with having stated to another court during the trial of the court action that "she (meaning Mary Jane Bell) had committed perjury in the trial of the case."

Attorneys Weber, Coffin and Crawford represent the plaintiff.

ORSATTI PLANS NOVEL DEFENSE
Doctrine of Entrapment Will be Involved
Case of Chinese in 1914 Cited as Precedent Right of Federal Officers to Consume Disputed

The doctrine of entrapment that was given much notoriety five years ago in the reversal by the United States Circuit Court of Appeal of a judgment of conviction obtained in Federal Judge Wellborn's court in 1914 of Sam Yick and Jung Kim, found guilty of violation of the immigration laws, is to be employed as a defense of Morris Orsatti, the North Spring street merchant who is at liberty on a bond of $25,000 on a charge that he and J. R. Johnson conspired to bribe a Federal prohibition agent. The matter was definitely arranged yesterday in a conference between Orsatti and his attorney, J. Robert O'Connor, former United States Attorney.

BLOW TO OFFICERS
The Sam Yick case, it was pointed out yesterday, was a deadly blow to the activities of Federal agents of inducing persons to commit crimes against the government, the court holding that these officers had no right to connive or conspire with other individuals to violate any of the Federal laws.

Yick and Kim, it was shown by the testimony, had operated within the knowledge of immigration inspectors E. P. Moore and A. G. Bernard. It was proven that they not only induced the defendant to engage in the contraband trade, but assisted them in various ways in carrying out their design. Yick at the time was a well known "Chinese merchant" in Bakersfield. He was sentenced to one year in the Kern County Jail and Kim to six months.

CONNIVANCE ASSERTED
Judge Wellborn in his charge to the jury said that if it be a fact that the government officers induced or aided the defendants to commit the crime charged against them, it was no bar to the prosecution by the government. An appeal was taken on this part of the charge and it was supported by the decision of the Circuit Court, which declared the officers had no right to assist Yick and Kim to violate the immigration law. The opinion will be invoked in favor of Orsatti.

In the Orsatti case it is asserted that the government agent in Charge H. H. Dolley had his interview with Johnson, he consulted with U. S. Atty. Burke, who advised him to go ahead and "frame" Orsatti and Johnson, or pretend to agree to accept money for "fixing" prohibition cases.

Pasadena Chief of Police Seeks Sheriff's Star
By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
(PASADENA, July 19.)—Petitions placing the name of Charles H. Kelley, Chief of Police of Pasadena, on the ballot as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Sheriff, were filed today with three times the necessary number of signatures. The Chief intends to make a whirlwind campaign for the office, he declared today, on a platform of suppression of bootlegging, protection of the outlying districts of Los Angeles county, economy in office and co-operation with other law-enforcing agencies.

Mr. Kelley came to California from St. Joseph, Mo., where he was chief of detectives, twelve years ago and has been head of the Pasadena police a little more than a year. During the war he served in the coast artillery. He is an officer of the Pasadena chapter of Masons, thirty-second degree, a member of the Pasadena Consistory, past patron of Pasadena Chapter, Eastern Star, a member of Al Malakiah Temple, life member of Pasadena Lodge of Elks and a member of the Kiwanis and Lions clubs.

Wife is Dead; New Turn to Murder Case
The case of Albert Mackwitz, a young man in jail charged with the murder of his father-in-law, T. A. Standbury, took a new turn yesterday with the death of his wife. Mrs. Velma Jane Mackwitz died in a local hospital early in the morning, and Chief Deputy Coroner MacDonald said the post mortem showed death was due to a disorder caused by an illegal operation. J. M. O'Connell of the State Medical Board and Deputy Sheriff De War have been detailed on the case.

Mackwitz and his wife had one child, eleven months old. The woman went to the hospital shortly before the fatal quarrel. It develops that Mackwitz had gone to his wife's father's house to get infant's clothing and that the altercation then arose. Mr. Standbury died from the effects of a blow, said to have been delivered with a chair.

wide reputation as a trainer, built the running

EVANS AND HUNTER IN GOLF FINAL

Fred Wright Loses to Britisher by 1 Up at Chicago

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
CHICAGO, July 19.—The defeat of two former champions in one day was the feat performed today by Chick Evans, formerly national open and amateur golf champion, in winning the Midwestern annual invitation cup for the second year in succession.
In the forenoon semifinals Evans, who set a course record of 67 on Monday in qualifying, downed Davy Herron of Chicago, national amateur champion in 1919, 3 and 2, taking 74 strokes to Herron's 77. Then in the finals he outplayed Willie Hunter of England, formerly British amateur title-holder, and with a par 72 won the championship by a score of 2 and 1, despite some poor putting, as the Briton took 74 strokes.

"Ishkabibble," Says Benny Leonard

Benjamin Just Fishes and Smiles When Thinking of Lew Tendler

It's going to take a lot of hard work to wipe that smile off, too. Benny Leonard, world's lightweight title-holder, has begun training up at Lake Budd, N. J., for the biggest scrap of his career with Lew Tendler, Philadelphia southpaw. The battle takes place next Thursday at Boy's Thirty Acres, New Jersey, and the two fighters will be matched before one of the largest crowds of fans that ever witnessed a fight. Leonard is fishing, canoeing, playing tennis, in fact, his training sounds more like a vacation trip, but his sparring partners tell a different story when they meet in the big open-air ring. #### R BOAT IS LAUNCHED AT HARBOR

California Will be a Feature in "Times" Challenge Race

The California Yacht Club R boat California, first of her class in Pacific waters, was launched Tuesday night at Wilmington, and will be a feature of The Times challenge trophy race Saturday afternoon. This big racing craft, built by J. M. York, will be handled by Matt Walsh (skipper), Newell Logan and A. B. Todd. She is working out at the harbor preparatory to her initial appearance in The Times event.

Another California Yacht Club craft, the Q boat, Vite, Skipper Owen P. Churchill, owner, will figure in the same race. The crew will consist of Shorty Dorsey and Pier Davis.

In addition to the Star boat event to be staged Sunday afternoon off the Sub Base, and Minor Pill, by the C. Y. C., there will be a battle of Sea Mews—the five of the California Yacht Club. The Stars will start at 8 o'clock sharp, and make three laps, or nine miles, over a three-mile triangular course. The Mews will start at 2:05 and make two laps of the same course, six miles. This will afford a fine opportunity for spectators to see both classes in action.

Star boat 108 will be handled by Owen P. Churchill and Ben P. Weston; 99 by Edward Nordhoff and Newell Logan; 110 by Sterling Jeffers and Pier Davis.

Sunday's event will mark the first appearance of Star boats in a race in Pacific waters, and the first contest of Sea Mews here. The latter will be handled by C. Y. C. members.

FISTIC ACTIVITY INCREASES

Mid-Summer Sport in New York Reaches Point of National Interest—Many Bouts Carded

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
NEW YORK, July 19.—Midsummer fistic activity in metropolitan rings is reaching the point of national interest. With the Leonard-Tendler lightweight championship bout next week, the amphitheater known as Rickard's Arena is being renovated for the coming contest, and others which will follow. Leonard and Tendler are training in near-by suburbs.

Although the Leonard-Tendler decision contest, general opinion appears to lean toward a decisive result and the champion is a decided favorite. Conditions call for both boxers to weigh in at 155 pounds at 2 p.m. on the day of the bout. After the contest Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, who are expected to meet for the world's heavyweight championship next summer, will appear in local bouts. Wills is scheduled to meet a negro boxer, and Harry Wills is scheduled to meet a white boxer.

Both the Leonard-Tendler and Dempsey-Wills bouts will be fought at night and an elaborate lighting system will be installed in the huge arena, which seats approximately 30,000.

IN JERSEY
This bout, which is expected to be fought in Jersey City probably on September 29, will mark the final open-air appearance of Dempsey in competition in this country at least, for the season of 1922.

Both the Leonard-Tendler and Dempsey-Wills bouts will be fought at night and an elaborate lighting system will be installed in the huge arena, which seats approximately 30,000.

MANAGERS MEET TO FORM ASSOCIATION

All the managers of semipro ball teams in Southern California will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the A. G. Spaulding Sporting Goods House, 431 S. Spring, for the purpose of organizing a new Southern California Managers' Association.

Joe Pirrone, Joe Rafferty, Bill Williams and Ed Stewart, the organizers of the original Managers' Association, will be present and help out in reforming the body.

GRAPPLERS FINALLY HOOKED UP

Miller and Meyers Agree to Meet in Title Clash
Here on August Third

And yet they say the day of miracles is past. Naught but a miracle will bring together Walter Miller, Los Angeles Athletic Club wrestling instructor, and Johnny Meyers, of Chicago, the wisacres predicted. The impossible was accomplished yesterday. Miller and Ed White, manager for Meyers, agreed upon the tentative terms for the match posted their forfeits and both signed their John Henrys on the dotted line. These grapplers, who both claim the world's middleweight wrestling title, will settle the issue once and forever when they tangle here on August 3, at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the match, while Miller insists that the weighing-in formalities should take place just before the grapplers entered the ring. They compromised. Both must tip the beam at 155 pounds at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of the match. They will wrestle two hours to a decision and the Police Gazette rules will govern the match.

The scene of the grueling contest was not mentioned in the tentative agreement, but it is understood the Los Angeles Athletic Club will stage the event. White stated last night that a flatterer offer has come from some local promoter, who is desirous of staging the affair elsewhere than at the club and it may be that the offer will be accepted.

LOCAL GIRLS ENTER FINALS

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
DENVER, July 19.—Miss Grace Mungen and Miss Jessie Grieve, Los Angeles tennis stars, will meet tomorrow afternoon in the singles finals of the Denver city tennis tournament.

In one of the fastest matches of the day, Miss Mungen defeated Miss Annette Meyer of Denver this afternoon, 5-7, 6-2 and 6-4. Miss Meyer outplayed the California star in the first set, and backers of Miss Meyer were offering odds that Miss Mungen at last had met her master. In the second set, however, the Los Angeles girl came back and won the match handily.

The match between Miss Grieve and Mrs. Julia Mohr also was hotly contested. The Denver woman had Miss Grieve's love at the start of the game, but lost her lead and the set when the Coast star warmed up. The score was 6-4 and 6-2.

Southern California Titles
Goal of Invaders

May Bundy and Mrs. Henry
Will Depart Today

When Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Mrs. William M. Henry pull out on the Union Pacific this morning, for points east, chief interest of the local tennis colony will be centered in the forthcoming Southern California championship tournament to be held on the courts of the Los Angeles Tennis Club the first week in August.

The customary delegation of invaders from San Francisco is expected. In the women's events Mrs. Ream Leachman, several times winner of the title, will probably defend against Miss Marion Williams and Miss Bryant, who will be the chief local hopes. It is understood that there is a possibility of Mrs. J. C. Cushing of San Francisco also coming south.

WILL RETURN SOON
It is also understood that Mrs. Walter Ellis of this city, who has been sojourning in Washington, D.C., helping W. Gamaliel Harding operate the United States government during the past year, will return in time to play in this event. Mrs. Ellis was always one of the stronger women players and has been capturing lots of honors in the East this season.

In the men's events the handsome shoulders of C. B. Herd, Tom Ferrandini, Harvey Snodgrass and Peck Griffin will have to bear the big burden. While the pick of the north will be invading the grass courts of the East, there will be a mean delegation down here for the tourney, including Irving Weinstein, Ed Parker and several others of note who can be counted on to give the local talent a terrible run.

HERD AND WARREN JOIN
Inasmuch as Tom Bundy is to be out of the city during the big tournament Cliff Herd has teamed up with Gene Warren. There is enough temperament on this team to do for a while tournament with a couple of grand opera companies thrown in. Harvey Snodgrass and Roland Reilke will again play superbly, and Nat Browne and Clarence Barker, who scared the Kinsey family half to death, will also compete.

LA BARBA PUTS IT ON MARUJO

112-Pounder of L.A.A.C.
Knocks Man Out in First

Good Bouts Pulled off in Amateur Mills

Finals Carded for Tonight to Decide Laurels

BY ED O'MALLEY
Running the gamut of class from 112 pounders to heavyweights the L.A.A.C. dished up a very appetizingastic menu last night in the semifinals of the Southern Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union.

By far the most gripping set-to of the evening was the decisive victory of Fidel La Barba of the L.A.A.C. over Mike Marujo, unattached, in the 112-pound division. Fidel won in the first round by a ripping left to the jaw, flooring his man for the count of nine. Mike arose groggily and was downed a second time, staring on the canvas for the full count. La Barba is the most promising lad of his left in the amateur line seen hereabouts in some time and should hold his own with the best of them.

He goes into the finals for tonight through the defaulting of Dominick Urge. His opponent will be Benny Marks who later on in the evening won a decision over Rudie Reco. Marks was too fast and clever for Reco and was in front all the way. Unless all signs fail, La Barba should have little trouble in disposing of Marks tonight.

The following were the results of the other bouts: In the 116-pound class, August Gotto beat Ned Golden, decision, and Joe St. George won in the third round over L. L. Gresham by a knockout. In the 126-pound class Ed Gleeson beat Joe Pimental, decision. In the 147-pound division Peter Spindale beat Perry Pearson, decision; George Todd hung it on Howard Grosvener, decision; Ed Hawkins beat Tom Doyle, decision; Al Cleve beat Joe Pimental, decision. In the 160-pound class, Paul Grube defeated Joe Gonzalez, decision; Rudy Laybourn bested Roy Reid in the second by a knockout, and Ad Allergini bested Rudy Laybourn in the final by a decision. In the heavyweight class, Dudley Uppitt put it on Sam Elman, decision.

Manager Keppen announces that there will be ten bouts in the finals tonight. Festivities began at 8:30 o'clock. Snowy Baker of Australia acted as referee.

Valve in Head Values invite Comparison

It is an interesting fact that the new Buick is always accepted as the standard of comparison. This in itself is the greatest compliment that competitors can pay to the Buick.

The new Buick has a number of exclusive features that can only be had in the Buick. The powerful and economical Buick Valve-in-Head motor, the famous Buick Valve-in-Head clutch, the easily operated Buick gear shift mechanism, etc., are of vital interest to the purchaser of a new motor car.

Empty promises and glittering generalities cannot offset actual mechanical superiority. Be sure that you understand the exclusive Buick features before listening to a competitor who uses the Buick as his standard of comparison.

Vernon Spencer, former New York Giant outfielder, has been signed by the Los Angeles club, it was announced by Business Manager Lockhart yesterday.

SARAZEN GAVE UP "LAST"
Phenomenal Golf Champion Side Slips Shoe Shop to Caddy; Persistence Wins Out in the End

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, July 19.—If Gene Sarazen had adhered to the maxim, "Shoes make a man a gentleman," he would now be playing on old footgear, while Bobby Jones, the youthful Atlanta amateur, and John Black, the Oakland grandfather, would be playing off the tie for national open golf champion.

Gene could not stick to his last as apprentice in his father's shop in New York after he had gone to the Brooklyn Club and caddied a few times. The threat of his obliging parent to use the last as an agent of punishment unless he had desisted from running away from the shop and caddying had little effect, and the rising young champion showed the courage he displayed last week in being the first of the nation of the Caesars to down the doughty Scots. He not only did not stick to his last, but he ran away from it so persistently that Father Sarazen finally gave up, especially after his son had brought home proof of his prowess on the links.

Sarazen soon picked up the same with borrowed and discarded clubs and by the time he was 19 had procured a place as professional at a Fort Wayne (Ind.) club. Three years later he overcame the Scots at Skokie, although against that canny race, all the Caesars had been unable to make progress beyond Hadrian's wall.

The young American of Roman ancestry out-golfed a field of 329 of the world's best with a score of 288 for seventy-two holes.

HELEN WILLS BOWS TO MISS BANCROFT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEWPORT (R.I.) July 19.—Miss Leslie Bancroft of Boston defeated Miss Helen Wills of Berkeley, Cal., in the finals of the women's invitation tennis tournament at the Newport Casino today. The score was 6-3, 6-4.

STANTON AND REED TAKE CHAMPIONSHIP

Forest Stanton and Mickey Reed won the Class B double handball championship of the Los Angeles Athletic Club yesterday by trimming Charley Keppen and Joe Pasigiano in straight sets, 21-18 and 21-16.

OAKLAND BEATS SEALS FOR SECOND STRAIGHT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND, July 19.—The Oaks romped over the Seals once more here today and took the game 5 to 0. They started with Se in the first inning and when the smoke had cleared away three runners had crossed the plate in the first inning. The Seals' only maining frames they nicked Combe for a couple of hits and as many runs. The best the Seals could do was to get a man to third in the second when Rhine doubled and took another base on Koehner's wild throw to get him at second. The score:

Coach Smith Expects Many Vets to Return

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY, July 19.—Football days will soon resound on the University of California athletic calendar here, Coach Andy Smith having announced that aspirants for the varsity will start practicing about the middle of August.

Members of the varsity team, which has won the Pacific Coast Conference championship for two years, will not be allowed, under conference rules, to start team practice until September 15.

HARD FIGHT
California expects a harder fight this year than it has had for the past two years during which its eleven mowed down team after team and went through two seasons undefeated.

Although Coach Smith expects eighteen veterans back, he must practically rebuild his line, which from tackle to center was lost through graduation. Smith's ends will be particularly well taken care of. "Brick" Muller, "Brodie" Stephens and Bob Berkey, all stars, being expected back. Charley Erb, quarterback, will captain the team. "Boles" Rosenthal, "Nipper" Price and Walter Gordon will continue to act as assistant coaches this year.

The California schedule follows:
September 16—University of Santa Clara, San Jose.
October 14—Stanford University, Stanford.
October 21—Graceland College, Graceland, La.
November 11—University of Washington, Seattle.
November 18—University of Nevada, Reno.
November 25—Stanford University, Stanford.

HIGH MARK REACHED IN GOLF EVENT
Receipts at Skokie Exceed Those of Other Tourneys of the Past

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 19.—The United States Golf Association derived $15,078 from admissions during the national open championship at Skokie last week, a high mark for any golf tournament in the country, according to T. J. McMahon, who had charge of the affair. On Friday $6,000 was paid in and the next day $5,000.

The increased revenue will permit a larger refund than usual to the players and enable the greens committee of the governing body to increase the scope of its work.

Golf predicted today that the near future would bring action to limit the number participating in national tournaments, and that said to be under consideration, would eliminate the play from which only the leaders would be eligible for entry in qualifying rounds for the main event.

SALT LAKERS AGAIN CLEAN UP PORTLAND

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY, July 19.—Salt Lake won the second game of the series from Portland today, 7 to 6. Jenkins crossed in the thirteenth inning when Fuhrman permitted Cox's perfect throw from center to slip between his legs. Misdirected efforts at base running on the part of both clubs sent the game into extra innings today.

Paul Strand hit safely in his thirty-third consecutive game, hitting five out of six today. He had scored in his last two games. Frank Brazil, Portland second baseman, suffered a sprained leg while sliding into the plate. It is feared he will be out of the game for some time.

AUSTRALIANS SEEK AMERICAN MITTMEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 19.—Jack Munro, manager of the Stadium, Limited, of Sydney, Australia, and H. B. Jamieson, secretary, announced here today while stopping on the way from Vancouver, B. C., to San Francisco, that they were in the United States to get in touch with American bakers to appear on their cards in Australia. After stopping at San Francisco and Los Angeles, they plan to make a trip East, maintaining their country here, and then they planned to establish agencies at San Francisco and New York to furnish bakers regularly.

The SHEIK
By Edith M. Hall

"Ahmed, oh, my dear!" she whispered unthinkingly, and kissed him with lips that quivered against the stiffness of his. Then for a moment she dropped her bright head beside the bandaged one on the pillow, but when the Vicome came back she was kneeling where he had left her, her hands clasped over one of the Sheik's and her face hidden against his cheek. Saint Hubert caught his hand on her shoulder. "Diane, you are torturing yourself unnecessarily. You cannot know for some time how it will go with him. Try and get some sleep for a few hours. You can do no good by staying here. He will not see you. I will call you if there is any change, my word of honor."

She shook her head without looking up. "I can't go. I couldn't sleep."

Saint Hubert did not press it. "Very well," he said quietly, "but if you are going to stay you must take off your riding-boots and put on something more comfortable than those leather things."

She realized the sense of what he was saying, and obeyed him without a word. She even had to undress in a certain amount of relief after she had bathed her aching head and throat, and substituted a thin, silk wrap for the torn, stained riding-suit.

He was pouring out coffee when she came back, and Saint Hubert turned to her with a cup in his outstretched hand. "Please take it. It will do you good," he said, with a little smile that was not reflected in his anxious eyes.

She took it unhesitatingly, and swallowing it hastily, went to the side of the divan again. She laid down on the rug where she had knelt before. The Sheik was lying on his side, his head resting on his arm, and he was looking at her with a half-smile of satisfaction. Saint Hubert gathered her up into his arms.

He carried her to the bedroom, heaving her onto the couch before he put her down. Surely one moment out of a lifetime might be granted to him. He would never have the torturing happiness of holding her in his arms again, would never again clasp her against his heart that with the same mad passion that had swept over him yesterday. The love that all his life he had longed for, he had never sought vainly through many countries, had come to him at last, and it had come too late.

The helpless loneliness lying in his arms was not for him. It was Ahmed whom she loved, Ahmed who had wakened to such a tardy recognition of the priceless gift that she had given him, Ahmed whom he must wrest from the grim spectre that was hovering near him lest the light shine in her violet eyes should go out in the blackness of despair. And yet as he looked at her with eyes filled with hopeless misery a demon of suggestion whispered within him, tempting him. Then he trembled, and a great fear of himself came over him. Ahmed was his friend. Who was he that he should judge him? He could at least be honest with himself. He could own the truth. He coveted what was not his, and masked his envy with a hypocrisy that now appeared contemptible. The clasp of his arms around her seemed suddenly a profanation, and he laid her down very gently on the low couch, drawing the thin coverlet over her, and went back slowly to the other room.

He sent Henri away and sat down beside the divan to watch with a feeling of weariness that was not bodily. For a time Ahmed Ben Hassan lay motionless, and then, as the day crept on and the early rays of the warm sun filled the tent, he moved uneasily, and began to mutter feverishly in Arabic and French. And beside him, with his face buried in his hands, Raoul de Saint Hubert thanked God fervently that he had saved Diane from the added torture of listening to the revelations of the past four months.

The first words were in Arabic, then in French, and then in English. "Two hours south of the oasis with the three broken palm trees by the wall. Life is useless to you. You cannot get away. I shall not let you go. . . . Why do you ask me? Mon Dieu! Are you not woman enough to know? No! I will not spare you. Give me what I want willingly and I will be kind to you, but fight me, and by Allah! you shall pay the cost. . . . I know you hate me, you have told me so already. Shall I make you love me? . . . Still disobedient? When will you learn that I am a master? . . . I have not time for you yet, you lovely little wretch, garcon manque. . . . You say she is coward; I say she is content—content to give me everything I ask of her? . . . For four months she has fought me. Why does she give me pleasure to have broken her at last? Why do I want her still? She is English and I have made her pay for my hatred of her cursed race. I have tortured her to keep my vow, and still I want her. . . . Diane, Diane, how beautiful you are! . . . What devil makes me hate Raoul after twenty years? Last night she only spoke to him, and when he went I cursed her till I saw the terror in her eyes. She fears me. Why should I care if she loves him? . . . I knew she was not asleep when I went to her. I felt her quivering beside me. I wanted to kill Raoul when he would not come with me, but for that I would have gone back to her. . . . Allah! how long the day has been! . . . Has it been long to her? Will she smile or tremble when I come to her? . . . What is Diane? . . . How much you meant to me? How could I know that I should love you? . . . Diane, my sun, my sunshine. Tahet is cold and dark without you. . . . Ibrahim Omair! That devil and Daniel! Oh, Allah! Grant me time to go to her. . . . How the jackals are howling! See, Raoul, there are the tents. . . . Diane, where are you? . . . Grand Dieu! It has been so torturing her! . . . You knew that I would come, ma bien aimée, only a few moments later. I kill him, then I can hold you in my arms. Dieu! If you knew how much I loved you. . . . Diane, Diane, it is all black. I cannot see you, Diane, Diane. . . ."

And hour after hour with weary hopelessness the tired voice went on—"Diane, Diane. . . ."

CHAPTER IX

It was evening when Diane opened drowsy and heavy eyes, a bitter taste in her mouth from the effects of the drug that Saint Hubert had given her. Everything had been laid out in readiness for her waking with the little touches that were characteristic of Zillah's handiwork, but the Arab girl herself was not visible. The lamp was lighted, and Diane turned her head languidly, still half confused, to look at the clock beside her. The tiny Chinese figure of a woman, with a face of recollection she leaped up. More than twelve hours since she had knelt beside him after drinking the coffee that Raoul had given her. She guessed what he had done and tried to be grateful, but the thought of what might have happened during the twelve hours she had lain like a log was horrible. She dressed with feverish haste and went into the outer room. It was filled with Arabs, many of whom she did not recognize, and she knew they must belong to the reinforcements that Ahmed Ben Hassan had sent for. The rest were grouped silently about the divan, looking at the still-unconscious Sheik. The restlessness and delirium of the morning had passed and been succeeded by a death-like stupor. Nearest to him stood Yusuf, his usual swaggering self-assurance changed into an attitude of deepest dejection, and his eyes, that were fixed on Ahmed, were now fixed on Raoul. Ben Hassan's face, when he had been whipped dog, was like those of the two headmen. Gradually the tent emptied until only Yusuf was left, and at last, reluctantly, he too went, stopping at the entrance to speak to Saint Hubert, who had just taken leave of the two headmen.

The Vicome came back, bringing a chair for Diane, and put her into it with gentle masterfulness. "Sit down," he said almost gruffly. "You look like a ghost."

She looked up at him reproachfully. "You dragged the coffee, but for me with the same intention. If he had died today while I was asleep I don't think I could ever have forgiven you."

"My dear child," he said gravely, "you don't know how near you were to collapse. If I had not made you sleep I should have had three patients on my hands instead of two."

"I am very ungrateful," she murmured, with a tremulous little smile.

Saint Hubert brought a chair for himself and dropped into it wearily. His devotion to Ahmed Ben Hassan had survived the greatest test that could be imposed upon it, and had emerged from the trial strengthened and refined, with every trace of self obliterated. There was a long silence.

Henri came in once and Diane roused herself to ask for Gaston, and then relapsed into silent watchfulness. A again, she awoke once, a long quivering sigh that nearly broke Saint Hubert's heart. He rose and bent over the Sheik, with his fingers on his wrist, and as he laid the nerveless hand down again she leaned nearer and covered it with her own.

"His hand is so big for an Arab," she said softly, like thought spoken aloud unconsciously.

"He is not an Arab," replied Saint Hubert with sudden, impatient vehemence. "He is English."

Diane looked up at him swiftly with utter bewilderment in her startled eyes. "You don't understand," she faltered. "He hates the English."

"Quand-meme, he is the son of one of your English peers. His mother was a Spanish lady; many of the old noble Spanish families have Moorish blood in their veins, and he is a descendant of centuries. It is so with Ahmed, and his life in the desert has accentuated it. Has he never told you anything about himself?"

She shook her head. "Sometimes I have wondered," she said reflectively. "He seemed different from the others, and there has been so much that I could never understand. But then again there were times when he seemed pure Arab," she added in a lower voice, and with an involuntary shiver.

"You ought to know," said Saint Hubert, "yes! he went on firmly, as she tried to interrupt him. "It is due to you. It will explain so many things. I will take the responsibility. His father the Earl of Glencaryll."

"But I know him," said Diane wonderingly. "He was a friend of my father. I saw him only a few months ago when Aubrey and I passed through Paris. He is such a magnificent-looking old man, so fierce and sad. Oh, now I know why that awful look of doom came over him when he saw me. Lord Glencaryll frowns like that. It is the famous Caryll scowl. But I still don't understand." She looked from Saint Hubert to the unconscious man on the divan and back to Saint Hubert with a new trouble growing in her eyes.

"I had better tell you the whole story," said Raoul, dropping back into his chair.

"Thirty-six years ago my father, who was a great dandy as I am, was staying here in the desert with his friend the Sheik Ahmed Ben Hassan. One evening, shortly after his arrival at the camp, a party of the Sheik's men who had been absent for some hours came back with the chief's affairs arrived, bringing with them a woman whom they had found wandering in the desert. She was taken to the tent of one of the headmen, whose wife looked after her. For some days she was doubtful whether she would recover, and her condition was aggravated by the fact that she was shortly to become a mother. She was quite young—seemingly not more than eighteen or twenty years of age—and seemed quite content as long as the child was with her.

LESS than seven years ago the circulation of THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE was 350,000 copies at fifteen cents a copy.

Today the circulation of THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE is 1,800,000 copies at twenty-five cents a copy. This is the largest circulation, at this price, ever attained by any magazine.

Yet the reason for it is very simple.

A few of us are interested in fiction or articles, but we are all of us interested in life. Lincoln read few books after he became of age, but he never wearied of meeting people.

In our smaller way we are like him. We buy THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE because it is life—people.

We say to ourselves as we read it: "Why, I knew a man just like that. He was just an ordinary man, too." But it pleases us to see that an ordinary man can overcome extraordinary obstacles.

As Emerson says, it "encourages and liberates us."

We like to be encouraged—liberated. It is a great thing to lay down a publication with the feeling that you are a bit different than you were when you picked it up—that you have discovered something about yourself that will make it possible for you to use yourself more effectively.

That is the secret of THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE. It is the reason why 1,800,000 men and women buy it every month.

If it were merely "literature," 1,800,000 copies at twenty-five cents a copy would be an incredible circulation. But who can measure the possible circulation of a magazine that is life?

BY VIRGINIA WOODS

The ballroom in the old Banning home at Thirty-first and Hill streets was the setting last evening of one of the most important weddings of the year, when Miss Katherine Banning and Francis Graves were married in the presence of a large family connection and old friends, all of whom are members of pioneer families.

Dr. Carl S. Patton officiated. Miss Banning is the only daughter of the late Joseph B. Banning and Mrs. Banning, while Mr. Graves is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson A. Graves, Sr., being president of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of this city.

The bride party stood on the raised platform at one end of the big room in front of an altar made of sinias in bronze and gold, and ferns. The colors of the bridesmaids' gowns were in similar shades, and the decorations throughout the house were of these flowers.

Miss Banning, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Capt. William Banning, was a picture in her draped gown, white satin with a court train and grided with a row of pearls. Her long veil was of point applique held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was designed from lilies of the valley, orchids and pale pink cyclamens.

Miss Alfred Wright, the most intimate friend of the bride, was matron of honor, and was stunning in a gown of green satin brocade made with long waist and falling off the shoulders in an old-fashioned way. Yellow flowers reached almost to the hem from the waist at one side. The skirt fell almost to the floor on the other side, but was shorter in front than in the back. She wore a picture hat, of green, trimmed with yellow flowers, and carried a sheaf of ferns. She and all the bridesmaids wore alpacas and hose of black color.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. William Phineas Banning, who wore a gown of pale pink satin with a train, and carried a bouquet of pink sinias; Miss Alice Morse was in yellow chiffon and satin and carried yellow sinias; Mrs. John C. Macfarland wore a gown in apricot color and carried sinias to match. Mrs. Phineas Banning's train was in flame color, and her flowers matched her gown. Miss Katherine Mellus was attired in a gown of violet shade and carried a sheaf of sinias that matched.

Robert Elliott stood with Mr. Graves and the bride. Mr. Graves was one of the leading members of the Bachelors' Club, and was last year and for previous years a member of the board of governors of that fashionable organization. Both the bride and the groom are members of two of the oldest and most prominent families of the Southland, both being pioneers.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calendar"

"FATIGUE AND OVER-FATIGUE." It is necessary to distinguish between the fatigue that is a natural result of exertion, from which there is a quick recovery, and over-fatigue, which carries the child each time farther from his normal condition, and makes his return to health more difficult.

"The weight curve is the most valuable test available to show the effect of fatigue. If the child fails to gain after other known causes for his loss of weight have been removed, over-fatigue must always be suspected as the cause of his poor condition."

"No one experienced in the care of animals allows them to be over-exercised during the growing period. A valuable colt is never entered in long races until mature, and it is recognized that a horse can be killed by over-driving or by being fed immediately after a heavy exercise. There is need for similar caution in the care of the growing child."

"CAUSES OF OVER-FATIGUE." There are a thousand causes of over-fatigue. The child will naturally overdo, and the brighter and more active he is, the greater the danger. The spirit of competition and the desire to stand out from the crowd lead him to undertake tasks far beyond his strength.

"Adults seldom appreciate how much energy and strength are required in simply growing. A written record of the child's activities for forty-eight hours will college days that the romance had its beginning. The couple will make their home in Indianapolis, where Mr. Grubb is to take an important position with the Western Electric Company."

Let Japanese Cheer, He Says, But in Japan
The Japanese question in California and the soldier bonus were up for general discussion at a luncheon at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday, at which the principal speaker was Gov. Stephens. The Governor spoke strongly in favor of the proposed $10,000,000 bond issue to provide homes and farms for ex-service men.

"In regard to the Japanese question," said the Governor, "I am in favor of letting the Japs stand on a corner of his farm and shout his head off for the Emperor and his country. But when he does it he must do his shouting in Japan. No people should be allowed here who cannot in time become citizens."

Gov. Stephens later reviewed 450 National Guardsmen who are camped at Fort MacArthur.

THE NEW IN STORES AND HOMES

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

By Olive Gray

Up-to-Date
Alicia writes from Paris that the new cloth (of silk) has issued from the manufactory and will take a prominent place for fall and winter wear. It is translated "white grain of powder," and she declares it "looks like that." It is to be used, principally, for high-class suits consisting of the one-piece dress and the loose, long top-coat, which exclusive makers in Paris are trying to introduce. In some instances, these new coats are banded deeply in a contrasting color of crepe and are embroidered with metallic threads—usually silver—interspersed with beads and self-tint. It is said that this coat may somewhat supersede the cape for formal wear, but not for general use.

A Good Guide
While the skirt-length war wages, there is one good rule to follow: Select that which is most becoming to you. If you are sure that you have good-looking feet and ankles, not to carry the argument higher, wear short skirts; if not, find a place in the heart of an uncertain quantity, be one of the first to adopt the greater length in skirts and thereby gain a double advantage—that of covering a retreat and of discovering a ready advance in modishness.

Small Wedding Gifts
It is not always the large gift which gains most favor, or which is most appreciated, by the recipient. Then, too, there is often call for a wedding gift from a child and such a present is certain to find a place in the hearts of the bride. I thought of this, as I discovered that little set of compact mirrors, each with a pocket mirror, these tiny spoons ran a gamut from about three spoonfuls up to possibly half-a-cup.

The fitted together, making a compact bundle, and no one could doubt their usefulness, while their beauty and their modishness are undeniable. The price, too, was negligible.

Fur Prediction
She who is advised as to furs to be popular next season, will hasten to save by taking advantage of summer price-reductions. It is declared authoritatively that long coats are in either white or black, the coming fall and winter. Any of the short-haired furs are to be popular and some of the longer ones, especially mink, are offering advantages just now, either by reason of stock reductions, preparatory to winter garment making, or because of removals. So, Milady of the furry purse, now is the time to place savings in the outside flap of that receptacle!

Cire Leaves
Leaves of waxed cire or of dully varnished material are used as sole trimming for some of the larger summer hats. Black is a favorite in these ornaments, especially where the hat itself is in high color. Green, trimmed with black, is a prime favorite and such a hat is certain to flatter almost any complexion.

Returned!
Remember Grandame's worsted flowers, which stood in honor-place under a glass case, on the center table? Well, they have returned to favor! Newly disposed, they are of course. At present, they are placed in a receptacle of glazed pottery, their stems set within one of those interesting flower stem-holders. The colors are high and interestingly unorthodox.

Aunt Jane Says:
She always washes the celery well, of course, but that is not all. After this process, she adds a generous dash of lemon juice to a bowl of water and immerses the celery in this. The last bath serves to whiten the celery, and white, crisp looking celery does taste better.

Americans Resist
It is said that American women are fighting hardest against long skirts. Will they succeed in resisting the inroads of this fashion? It remains to be seen. Thus far, we have firmly refused to yield wholly to the encroachment of the less comfortable, more extravagant skirt; but let's see just how emancipated we are. But a few inches, I believe, when it comes to fashion.

Scared or Profane?
I wonder if that compositor who made the advertisement read with an "m," instead of an "r," when darned cotton was reduced in price, ever did have to darn his own?

By Fashion's Wireless
Collars and sleeve sections of ecru embroidered batiste are used on frocks of navy blue twill. The newest blouse of crepe de chine features full long peasant sleeves and scarf girdles. Hand-embroidered blocks of black and colored silk are charming on a dress of white linen.

A plaited girdle of narrow black velvet ribbon is used on a dress of primrose-colored georgette. White linen blouses are strikingly embroidered in red, green and blue, with metal thread outlines. Quite a few evening gowns have adopted the low U-shape front line instead of the bateau contour.

A little French sweater has a "skirt" of black and white blocks, and a stand-up collar of the blocks. A very pretty fashion is that

GIRLS' AND MISSES' APRON.
Pockets of crestone and a bright colored binding add a gay touch to this sleeveless apron of unbleached muslin.

White Stains on Mahogany
Sprinkle baking soda on a white stain caused by a hot dish on mahogany and hold a hot iron near enough to heat, without burning, the stain. Repeat and polish with oil.

An Ideal Ironing Board
A splendid ironing surface can be obtained by first spreading the board evenly with cotton batting such as is used for comforters. Over this fasten securely a cover made from unbleached muslin, tacking it underneath the board.

A Suggestion for Curtains
When one has the same style curtain throughout the house, it is a good idea to make an extra pair when all the curtains are made. Then, as necessary, the extra pair can be hung and a soiled pair taken down and laundered. It would mean very little work and one would always have immaculate curtains.

To Toughen Enamel
Before using a new enamel pan put it into cold water and place on the stove until the water boils. Let the pan cool in the water. It will lengthen its life.

When Washing Handkerchiefs
If your handkerchiefs are a poor color, wash them and then soak them overnight in water to which a teaspoonful of Epsom salt has been added. This will whiten them nicely.

Neat Preparation
If you have occasion to wash spinach hurriedly without soaking, bring your bath sprayer out to the kitchen and see how quickly the sand will disappear under the play of it.

A Cleaning Apron
A practical apron for hard cleaning is one made of black oil cloth, made with many pockets into which one can tuck brushes, cloths, etc.

Warm-Up Room
The best way to warm up a room to have it taste like a freshly-cooked one is to wrap it in thickly-greased paper and keep covered while in the oven.

Cherries Are Ripe
The cherry season is at hand again and cherry desserts are in order. Especially good and pretty to look at is the fresh cherry pie piled high with whipped cream.

For Light Housekeeping
A tin cake-box is such a comfort for the working girl who does a little housekeeping in her own room. It will hold bread, cereal, crackers and various little things that must be kept fresh and safe from mice.

A Delightful Addition
Try grating a little orange rind into the cinnamon and sugar in which you dip your doughnuts.

Household Suggestions
To Serve With Salad
A pretty touch is added to the salad course if cream cheese is shaped into small balls and then rolled in paprika until thoroughly covered.

Household Suggestions
To Serve With Salad
A pretty touch is added to the salad course if cream cheese is shaped into small balls and then rolled in paprika until thoroughly covered.

White Stains on Mahogany
Sprinkle baking soda on a white stain caused by a hot dish on mahogany and hold a hot iron near enough to heat, without burning, the stain. Repeat and polish with oil.

An Ideal Ironing Board
A splendid ironing surface can be obtained by first spreading the board evenly with cotton batting such as is used for comforters. Over this fasten securely a cover made from unbleached muslin, tacking it underneath the board.

A Suggestion for Curtains
When one has the same style curtain throughout the house, it is a good idea to make an extra pair when all the curtains are made. Then, as necessary, the extra pair can be hung and a soiled pair taken down and laundered. It would mean very little work and one would always have immaculate curtains.

To Toughen Enamel
Before using a new enamel pan put it into cold water and place on the stove until the water boils. Let the pan cool in the water. It will lengthen its life.

When Washing Handkerchiefs
If your handkerchiefs are a poor color, wash them and then soak them overnight in water to which a teaspoonful of Epsom salt has been added. This will whiten them nicely.

Neat Preparation
If you have occasion to wash spinach hurriedly without soaking, bring your bath sprayer out to the kitchen and see how quickly the sand will disappear under the play of it.

A Cleaning Apron
A practical apron for hard cleaning is one made of black oil cloth, made with many pockets into which one can tuck brushes, cloths, etc.

Warm-Up Room
The best way to warm up a room to have it taste like a freshly-cooked one is to wrap it in thickly-greased paper and keep covered while in the oven.

Cherries Are Ripe
The cherry season is at hand again and cherry desserts are in order. Especially good and pretty to look at is the fresh cherry pie piled high with whipped cream.

The Daily Fun Hour

BY HONOR WALSH

WOODMAN BALL.
This game may be played with a handball, a football, an oat sack or a bean bag. Every player and one finds a tree and stands by it. No more than one player should be stationed at each tree. The odd player is called the Woodman.

If a football is used, the Woodman kicks it in an attempt to tag one of the tree men, but when the missile is a handball or bean bag he tosses it. The tree men do their utmost to avoid the ball by dodging around their respective trees. When they think they can do it safely some of them change places, as in "Pussy Wants a Corner."

A clever Woodman pretends not to see their maneuvers, but he, too, watches his chance, and rushes to an unguarded tree the moment its tree man has left it. Then the player left without a tree becomes Woodman. Or, if the Woodman succeeds in hitting any tree man with the ball while the player so hit must change places with the Woodman, the latter strikes a tree man when he has left the tree and is changing places.

If neither ball nor bean bag are to be had, a satisfactory "Woodman ball" may be made by tying a bunch of grass in a handkerchief and by stuffing a salt bag with grass and tying it at the top. In no case should a hard missile be used for this game. Whenever the Woodman captures a tree or tag a tree man, he calls "Woodman Out!"

For Light Housekeeping
A tin cake-box is such a comfort for the working girl who does a little housekeeping in her own room. It will hold bread, cereal, crackers and various little things that must be kept fresh and safe from mice.

A Delightful Addition
Try grating a little orange rind into the cinnamon and sugar in which you dip your doughnuts.

WOMEN RALLY ABOUT MOORE

Young College and Society
Folk Organize

Many Meetings for Candidate Are Planned

Feminine Leaders Offering
Their Services

The nucleus for a large organization of young college and society women who are spending their vacations at home was initiated yesterday to work for Charles C. Moore for Senator. They call themselves the Junior Reception Committee for Moore and their duty will be to serve tea at the women's rally for Mr. Moore in Mrs. W. W. Orcutt's gardens, 4000 South Mariposa avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3 p.m.

Thereafter they will serve tea at all the Moore precinct meetings for women held throughout the city, twice a week in every precinct, until the primary election August 23.

Mrs. G. M. Swindell is chairman of the precinct committee work and will direct the young women tomorrow. Her daughters, Miss Ruth Swindell, recently returned from Bishop's School at La Jolla, is permanent chairman of the Junior Auxiliary Committee for Moore. Associated with her are Miss Rachel Anderson, Miss Josephine Peters, Miss Romaine Winkler, Miss Florence Brown, Miss Elsie Calvin, Miss Genevieve Yale of Glendale, Miss Maud Chesborough, and Miss Maud Mauch. To this list will be added other names when the organization is fully effected.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE
Additional names added to the hospitality committee for tomorrow's rally of women for Mr. Moore include Mrs. Christopher Gordon, Mrs. Julia Zuckerman, Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, Mrs. Spaulding Cooper, Miss Ella True, John E. Martin and Mrs. A. T. Stewart.

It was a busy day at headquarters yesterday in the women's division. Mrs. Frank A. Kelly, one of the most enthusiastic supporters of Mr. Moore and a steadfast worker, reported that the sentiment for Moore is growing every hour. For the meeting tomorrow she says that every Republican woman in Los Angeles county may consider herself personally invited. Mrs. Stewart enlisted as one of the volunteer workers late yesterday afternoon and promised to hold precinct meetings at her home, 217 Westminister avenue. "I did not realize at once," said Mrs. Stewart, "how important this campaign was. Now I am eager to do my share to help elect Mr. Moore for Senator. When such women as Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, Mrs. J. T. Anderson and others who have worked with him during the war speak so strongly in his favor I want to join the ranks of women workers, for I know their wisdom even if I do not know Mr. Moore."

OFFERS SERVICES
Mrs. Julia Powell, a well-known speaker from New York City, now a resident of Los Angeles, offered to devote her entire time to the speakers' bureau for the next thirty days.

Mrs. Dora Stearns, candidate for State Assembly in the Seventy-second District, who holds meetings at her home every Thursday, said laughingly yesterday, "I have a difficult time keeping these meetings from turning into Moore meetings, so enthusiastic are the women in this sweeping and fascinating campaign. Not that I mind, for I think I am the strongest one of them all for Mr. Moore. I want to win in any terrible way. I am out to win. But if it were a choice between him and me I would say, 'Elect Mr. Moore.'"

JAMES P. HUMPHREYS, well known automobile man of Melborn, Md., who declares he believes Tanlac is the best thing to overcome stomach trouble and run-down condition. States it completely restored his health.

JOINS MOORE RANKS
ENGINEER INDORSE SENATORIAL CANDIDATE IN RACE

H. W. Johnson—But not HIRAM Johnson—is supporting and will vote for Charles C. Moore as the Republican nominee for United States Senator from California.

In a letter to Ralph Arnold, Mr. Johnson, who is a Stanford graduate and a mechanical engineer of note, said:

"You can rest assured that I heartily endorse Charles C. Moore for United States Senator, and I certainly believe it is about time we had a Congress made up of at least a few business men, and especially a scattering of engineers of Mr. Moore's type, instead of a lot of politicians."

In spite of the fact that I have the same name and initials as 'Brother Hiram,' I, too, have had a change of sentiment and am no longer one of his supporters."

SOUTH SIDE THIMBLE CLUB WOMEN ACTIVE

Mrs. H. V. Davis will tell members of the South Side Thimble Club of the qualifications of Charles C. Moore for Senator when they gather in South Park today for their regular sewing meeting. She speaks in response to a request sent to the Moore headquarters by the club.

MOORE GAINS ADHERENTS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PASADENA, July 19.—Enthusiasm for Charles C. Moore for Senator continues to grow here as the time draws nearer for his visit Friday. More than a score of unsolicited new members enrolled at the Moore headquarters today as members of the Moore-for-Senator Club, a large sprinkling of former Progressives among them.

One of these was O. C. Stevens, of 291 Arcadia street, who cast his first vote for Lincoln.

"I'm a Lincoln Republican," Mr. Stevens remarked, "but I've always favored the progressive side. Just now I'm for anything to beat Johnson."

"The only flat fight I ever got into was in college during an argument over Hiram Johnson," said Mr. Stevens, "and I took the side of Johnson. I took the Johnson side in that argument and now I'm taking it here. Put me down for Moore."

Phillips Refuses to Tell of Its Disposal

Officials Believe Husband Hiding Evidence

Convinced Mrs. Caffee is Absolutely Innocent

Conflicting statements of A. L. Phillips, husband of the suspected hammer slayer, started yesterday a renewed search for Albert Meadows' missing vanity case by Sheriff Traeger and his assistants.

Phillips was questioned last Tuesday by Under Sheriff Biscailuz about the vanity case. It is said he did not deny knowledge of the whereabouts of the much-sought vanity case, but he refused to answer all questions relative to it. The nature of his replies to Under Sheriff Biscailuz strengthened the officials' opinion that Phillips either has knowledge of or has in his possession the slain girl's vanity case and is keeping it a secret.

Phillips was questioned by Under Sheriff Biscailuz during an automobile ride to Mrs. Phillips' home. "Where is the vanity case which Mrs. Meadows has told me she saw in the house which Mrs. Phillips is said to have taken?" asked the undersheriff.

"I do not want to appear as important," Mrs. Phillips replied, "but I don't think I am permitted to answer that question." Mrs. Phillips replied.

All other questions were likewise evaded by Phillips. In one of his replies the Sheriff's investigators said yesterday, indicated he may have knowledge of the missing vanity case but was remaining silent concerning it upon the advice of Mrs. Phillips' attorneys.

Upon this theory the renewed search for the missing vanity case was launched yesterday. "Fanny Caffee," the woman who is named Mrs. Phillips as the murderer to the county grand jury and the Coroner's inquest, started last night that she had enjoyed Tuesday night the first of the sleep since she witnessed the terrifying death struggle of Albert Meadows in the beach city.

"I have questioned Mrs. Caffee since she has been in the knowledge of her having previous plans to kill Mrs. Meadows, and I am thoroughly convinced she knows nothing of the murder plan."

"She has told me repeatedly that she was present when the vanity case was purchased, but Mrs. Phillips had made numerous other purchases in the same store at the same time. She has remained unshaken in her statements that Mrs. Phillips had confided in her that she had the vanity case."

NOT TO BE QUESTIONED
"But I thought Caffee intended to take up the matter through legal means," Mrs. Caffee told me, "so I never gave the matter any thought at that time."

Mrs. Caffee also told me, and I believe her statement is true, she had no inkling of Mrs. Phillips' plans until the death struggle was started. She said that she had no inkling of Mrs. Phillips' plans until the death struggle was started.

"I have washed my hands of the case," Mrs. Caffee said. "I have taken her to the District Attorney's office and placed her in their custody. What they intend to do I do not know."

Chief Dep. Dist. Atty. Doran also expressed himself as convinced that Mrs. Meadows had been killed by Mrs. Phillips. He added that he had no inkling of Mrs. Phillips' plans until the death struggle was started.
